LOWER GAS RATES

Samuel Insull Makes an Appeal to the City Council on the Subject.

Samuel Insuli, chairman of the board of directors of the gas company, addressed an appeal to the council committee on gas, oil, and electric light asking immediate consideration of the company's proposal to lower rates in return for permission to sell gas on heat unit instead of the present candle power basis.

"If it is the intention of your committee to withhold a decision upon the question of a change to a heat unit standard until after the valua-

Cook County Real Estate Board Candidate for Governor Writes Medill McCormick About It.

> Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, Republican candidate for the governorship nomination, in reply to a letter from Medill McCormick, comes out in favor of "home rule," a state budget system, a constitutional convention and an economy and efficiency reorganization of the state's business sys-

"Let me say at the outset that I believe in the general principle of 'home rule," wrote Col. Smith.

"Chicago, like the state in general, is suffering from a lack of concentra-tion of her efforts. She has too many spending agencies; too many boards and commissions. In so far as the state can do so, it should help Chicago to the authority to consolidate her municipal undertakings. You say truly that the special legislation asked by Chicago is a chronic burden upon the assembly. For the sake of the city, in which the whole state has a just pride, and for the sake of the remainder of the state as well, Chicago should be enabled to do for herself the things that affect her welfare exclusively, and should relieve the rest of the state from controversy over such matters. I do not believe the whole state should be made to suffer a headache every time Chicago has an indigestion.

"Coming to the specific question of Chicago's control of her public utilities, taken from her by the public utilities act, my position is that first of all there should be no jurisdictional conflicts in the public service, either between two agencies of the state or between an agency of the state and a municipality of the state. Jurisdictional conflict inevitably means neglected duties.

"To avoid a jurisdictional conflict and to place upon Chicago the respontion of the company's property is com-pleted," Mr. Insull says in his letter, the service she gets from the public sibility for the character and cost of

"In order to prevent delay we were the rates should not be regarded as until the valuation of the company's property is completed and the rates shown to be justified."

UPHAM IN BIG DEMAND

Fifty-five Thousand People Have Already Made Requests of Him for Convention Tickets.

Fred W. Upham, who did more than any other one man to bring the Republican convention to Chicago, has already received fifty-five thousand requests for tickets of admission. Not more than 10,000 of these applications can get results, Mr. Upham said, and preference will be given to the subscribers to the fund that landed the "world's greafest political convention" for Chicago when Mr. Upham and his local committee were fighting for subscriptions last winter.

Judge Harry P. Dolan has made a good record in the Municipal Court.

'We ask that you advise us of that utility companies within her boundaries, I believe she should have restored, through her council, the concareful to propose at the outset that trol of those utilities of which the service is primarily local. But I would binding for any definite period, but not recommend any other restriction merely as a schedule to be utilized of the powers of the public utilities commission."

ILLINOIS PENSIONS

Commission Created by Last Legislature Gets Busy to Save Them from Failing.

The Illinois pension laws commission created by the last legislature to estimate the future costs of all existing pension funds in Illinois, to investigate the operation of similar laws in other states and to make recommendations for emendation of existing laws in the next general assembly, met and began its work.

The investigation is likely to last for many months, and it is anticipated that important recommendations looking to public economy in the administration of pension matters will result.

Donald R. Richberg, special attorney for the Council committee on gas litigation, was made "special assistant corporation counsel for the City Council and its committee on schools, fire, police and civil service in its investigation of the finances of the Board of Education." The appointment, made as of May 17, 1915, means that Richberg will get $900 due him as back pay on the investigation of the board's finances.

The Alleged Bar Association, Comprising About 1,500 of the 55,000 Lawyers in Chicago, Again at Its Work of Naming Judges.

The Chicago Bar Association, composed to some extent of a lot of halfeducated lawyers with plenty of idle time on its hands, is again at work trying to dictate to the people of Chicago the men they should have for
